

Welcome to Destination Africa

Africa is the new frontier!!

Dear DA Participant,

It is a great pleasure to welcome you to the second edition of "Destination Africa".

With more exhibitors and more buyers than last year, the Pan – African B2B Show is proving once again its role as a stepping stone towards building a solid and viable continental Textile Value Chain.

Egypt stands committed not only to the well-being of the textile industry in Africa but also to furthering growth and cooperation between industry associations and industrial enterprises alike.

This edition of Destination Africa, will witness the first step towards synchronizing activities with Origin Africa – a major event on its own right – with the view towards merging both into a mega B2B event that would be the African "Mecca" for all buyers from around the world.

We hope that you will enjoy your stay in Cairo and you will take back home with you many business opportunities as well as pleasant and happy memories.

See you again 2018.

Best regards,
Mohamed Kassem

International Labour Organization

International Labour Organization (ILO)

The International Labour Organization (ILO) is the United Nations Agency devoted to advancing opportunities for women and men to obtain decent and productive work in conditions of freedom, equity, security and human dignity. Its main objectives are to promote rights at work, encourage decent employment opportunities, enhance social protection and strengthen dialogue in handling work-related issues.

ILO in Egypt

Egypt has been a member of the ILO since 1936, and the country office in Cairo has been established in 1959. ILO has been supporting decent work for many decades.

The three priority areas for our work in Egypt are:

1. Promoting job- rich growth, in particular for youth employment;
2. Facilitating social dialogue among workers, employers and government, and
3. Strengthening and extending social protection for all.

1. Promoting job- rich growth, in particular for youth employment:

• Employment and Skills

The ILO supports the Egyptian government, as well as its workers and employers organizations, to formulate tripartite, effective solutions for skills development and labour market intermediation. The “mismatch” between the outputs of the skills development system at large and of the needs of the economy is largely recognized in Egypt. The ILO supports the actors of the skills and employment services system to better understand actual needs and what works in Egypt, the wider region and globally.

• Enterprise Development

A dense SME ecosystem is with no doubt a core component of a dynamic, efficient, capital value adding and job-generating economy. ILO is a prominent player in this field, providing high-level advice and demand driven support to micro, small and medium enterprises (MSME) development stakeholders.

2. Facilitating social dialogue among workers, employers and government:

The ILO offers a unique platform in the arena of global forums in which governments, as well as representatives of workers and employers come together for an open dialogue to elaborate labour standards and policies at international and regional level. Tripartism and social dialogue are essential for each country to effectively balance key policy trade-offs and define its core societal choices. It is thus one of ILO's paramount missions to assist its members in establishing or strengthening legal frameworks, institutions or processes for sound industrial relations and effective social dialogue.

3. Strengthening and extending social protection for all:

The ILO promotes policies and provides technical assistance to help extend adequate levels of social protection to all members of society. The ILO supports the Government of Egypt to guarantee the financial sustainability of social protection schemes. It also works to extend coverage to all for pensions, sickness, invalidity, work injury, maternity, unemployment or the loss of a main income earner.

• Persons with disabilities (PWDs)

Promoting decent work for all cannot be achieved when persons with disabilities are excluded from the work force. Inclusive workplaces and direct support to PWDs requires a broad, cross-cutting programmatic approach.

• Child Labour

Child labour denies girls and boys their rights to be safe from harm, to quality education and vocational training, and to develop as mature and healthy adults. ILO has been engaged on the fight against child labour in Egypt for many years, and is currently supporting government of Egypt and national partners to prevent and eliminate child labour.

Cross-cutting Theme: Gender equality and women's empowerment:

Gender equality and non-discrimination is at the core of ILO commitment to decent work. Moreover, a focus on gender equality and the need to address inequalities has shaped the post-2015 global development agenda: the ILO's work must support its constituents in realizing internationally agreed development goals. In the current strategic framework of the ILO, gender is a cross-cutting policy driver. As such, gender equality, non-discrimination, and women's empowerment are central to the outcomes dealing with employment and skills, enterprise development, labour administration and social dialogue, and social protection.

COTTON EGYPT ASSOCIATION

The Cotton Egypt Association is a non-profit association established in 2005 with support from the Ministry of Industry and Foreign Trade. The association's mission, working closely with local and international companies involved in the Egyptian cotton supply chain, is to protect the Egyptian cotton's legacy of luxury and help promote all Egyptian cotton licensees and their products.

Cotton Egypt's mission is to manage the market, protect, promote, license and monitor the Egyptian cotton logo and its licensees, as well as guarantee the authenticity of products licensed to use the logo. This ensures products carrying the Egyptian cotton logo are softer, finer and more resilient than products made from other fibers.

In addition to working with Egyptian cotton growers and manufacturers, Cotton Egypt Association has partnered with the Export Council, Cotton Organizations and NGOs to ensure adherence to international labor, safety and trade standards.

The licensing system covers the entire supply chain of Egyptian cotton users to monitor quantities purchased and sold by each licensee and draw a map of its usage and establish a traceability system around the world.

This will enable monitoring of location, quantities, brands, manufacturers and retailers to track the journey from bale to stores.

Cotton Egypt verifies the data in the applications, sets criteria for testing samples and checking results, assures quality and standards of using the logo, and conducts random auditing visits to licensees' premises. Moreover, Cotton Egypt checks websites that promote Egyptian cotton products and notifies them of proper usage. Cotton Egypt regularly collects samples of products that are promoted as Egyptian cotton from retailers, tests them and addresses their producers.

In 2015, Cotton Egypt began a retail promotion of the Egyptian cotton logo by announcing changes in the accreditation process.

Cotton Egypt Association has initiated the "Total Transparency" process with clearly defined criteria in certifying product manufacturer with Egyptian cotton.

Through collaboration, CEA works on this process with those mills who have developed systems monitoring current Egyptian cotton through their production flow.

Where mills are using genuine Egyptian cotton, they will be reviewed for substantiation of the Egyptian cotton usage from the confirming data available.

Cotton Egypt Association strives to promote the Egyptian cotton products and protect the global market from counterfeit merchandise.

Worldwide Responsible Accredited Production

Worldwide Responsible Accredited Production (WRAP) is an independent, objective, non-profit team of global social compliance experts dedicated to promoting safe, lawful, humane and ethical manufacturing around the world through certification and education. WRAP is headquartered in Arlington, Virginia, USA, and has branch offices in Hong Kong and Bangladesh and full-time staff in Europe, India, and SE Asia (Thailand, Vietnam, and Indonesia) and for Latin America. WRAP certifications are accepted by numerous well-known brands and retailers around the world.

WRAP's Certification Program seeks to independently monitor and certify compliance with the 12 WRAP Principles, which are based on the rule of law within each country and include the spirit or language of relevant International Labor Organization conventions. The first nine Principles cover child labor and forced labor, health and safety, harassment and abuse, discrimination, hours of work, compensation and benefits, and freedom of association. The remaining three Principles cover the environment, customs compliance and security, ensuring that a facility is committed to environmentally responsible business practices, the shipment of its goods complies with applicable customs laws, and that no non-manifested cargo is transported along with finished products. WRAP certified facilities can demonstrate compliance with US C-TPAT Guidelines for Foreign Manufacturers.

Facilities that demonstrate proper adoption, deployment and monitoring of all 12 Principles receive certification for six months to up to two years. The certificate applies to the individual facility, not a parent company or brand, which allows our auditors to get an on-the-ground perspective of each facility's operations to ensure that they are maintaining compliant practices. All certifications require periodic renewal depending on the level, and all certified factories are subject to unannounced follow-up visits during their certification periods.

Compliance with these Principles is checked via audits carried out by professional third-party monitoring firms that have been accredited by WRAP. The individual auditors who conduct WRAP audits have to meet rigorous accreditation requirements and undergo a five-day training course conducted by WRAP and also attend refresher training courses once every two years.

WRAP's commitment to objective review is reflected in the make-up of its independent Board of Directors. Although the apparel industry is represented on the Board to provide insight and perspective, by charter the majority of the Board is comprised of individuals not affiliated with the industry. Further, structurally, WRAP is not set up as a membership organization. Despite receiving no income from dues, memberships or government grants, WRAP is financially sound, with its revenue being generated entirely through facility registrations, training and monitor accreditation fees.

WRAP also is an IRCA (International Register of Certificated Auditors) accredited training organization and runs social systems and auditor training courses and related seminars (including a very popular fire safety training course) in countries around the world to educate workers, facility managers, government inspectors, and others about issues related to socially responsible manufacturing.

WRAP's comprehensive facility-based model has made it the world's largest independent social compliance certification program for the apparel/textile industry. In 2016 alone, over 2500 facilities from approximately 45 countries participated. There are currently over 2,300 WRAP-certified facilities worldwide, employing over 2 million workers.

Company Brief :

We believe that clothes should fit women and not women altering their bodies to fit clothes. We know, that fit and comfort are decisive factors, which every woman looks for in what she wears. As such, with years of research, our teams of experts have invented a Nigerian size guide, which takes into account that Nigerian women are hardly proportional to mainstream clothing sizes. By designing culturally sensitive, easy to wear Afrocentric high street clothing and fashion manufacturing for other brands, we are the brand that ensures it all fits. We produce and retail affordable, functional, and trendy clothes for the retro fashion-focused woman.

We are passionate about ethical fashion wages for our workers and are constantly working towards changing the status quo within our communities.

Product Range :

Afrocentric High Street Apparel for Women and Children.
